Dear POB! Family,

It's official! I'm happy to announce that artist and photographer SADDI KHALI is on the client roster here at AKILA WORKSONGS, Inc. Managing Director Drake Holliday and I now handle the management needs of Saddi (below left) and we're looking forward it. As a photographer, Saddi is a new kind of artist for our management division but we have all indicators pointing to a fruitful relationship (which became effective earlier this month).

I met Saddi Khali through two colleagues in 2005. He had just relocated to Brooklyn from New Orleans (NOLA) because of "The Storm." Since then, we have worked together very closely. For example, Saddi performed at and served as the Artist Coordinator for art/work, a production of my non-profit organization (art/work was a memorial and celebration of life for the one year anniversary of Hurricane Katrina held at The Kumble Theater). In 2008, Saddi also became one of the contributors to the anthology I edited, "Be A Father to Your Child: Real Talk from Black Men on Family, Love, and Fatherhood" (three of his poems were featured).

We have become great friends; he is one of "the realest" people I know. He has a deep rooted love for people of African ancestry. That plus his remarkable talent make him a perfect fit here at AKILA! Please check out his images on www.MySpace.com/SaddiKhali. He also has a NEW page on Facebook (search "Saddi Khali"). On either site, you'll find a range of images - from beautiful children and scenic images of NOLA, to erotic images of Black people in love. Of the hundreds that I love, just a few are below (they look even better in their hi-resolution versions which can be found on MySpace or Facebook).

If you are interested in Saddi's services, please contact Drake at drake@akilaworksongs.com. Saddi is available for all kinds of sessions (personal, artist, family, events, and more).

Sincerely,

April R. Silver
